A main benefit cancellation is the formal process that ends the entitlement to a main benefit.

Benefit sanctions

The number of sanctions issued during the September 2023 quarter was 6,177, an increase of 522 or 9.2 percent from the September 2022 quarter.

A sanction is a reduction in a person's benefit that may occur if they do not fulfil their work obligations. Not everyone who does not fulfil their obligations gets sanctioned; if benefit recipients re-comply or provide additional information, the sanction can be overturned.

During the September 2023 quarter, the main reasons for unfulfilled work obligation sanctions were clients not attending appointments including seminar appointments (3,723 sanctions) and failing to prepare for work (1,911 sanctions).

At the end of September 2023, there were 1,200 graduated sanctions in place, an increase of 168 or 16.3 percent from the September 2022 quarter.

Figure 9c: Number of graduated sanctions in place at the end of the last six September quarters.

Sanctions can affect benefit recipients in a number of ways, depending on their circumstances and the number of times they have had a sanction over the last 12 months. There are three types of sanctions: graduated (i.e. percentage reduction in benefit amount), suspended, or cancelled.

Supplementary assistance

Between the end of September 2022 and the end of September 2023:

- the number of people receiving Accommodation Supplement increased by 7,812 or 2.3 percent
- the number of people receiving Disability Allowance decreased by 1,386 or 0.6 percent
- the number of people receiving Temporary Additional Support/Special Benefit increased by 3,531 or 4.0 percent.

The Accommodation Supplement assists people on low incomes with their rent, board, or the cost of owning a home.

The Disability Allowance assists people who have on-going costs because of a disability.

Temporary Additional Support helps people to cover essential living costs that cannot be met from their income or other resources.

Hardship assistance

Total hardship assistance

During the September 2023 quarter, there were 639,648 hardship assistance payments, worth $258.1 million.

Compared with the September 2022 quarter, the number of hardship assistance payments was 8.7 percent higher, and the value of hardship payments was 9.2 percent higher.

Figure 11a: Number of hardship payments provided during the quarter for the last six September quarters, by type of assistance.

Figure 11b: Value of hardship payments provided during the quarter for the last six September quarters, by type of assistance.

Hardship assistance includes, but is not limited to: Special Needs Grants, Benefit Advances, and Recoverable Assistance Payments. These forms of assistance are designed to help people who have immediate needs.

Reasons for hardship assistance

Two key types of hardship assistance are Special Needs Grants for food and Emergency Housing Special Needs Grants.

There were 339,222 Special Needs Grants for food during the September 2023 quarter, up 31,020 or 10.1 percent from the September 2022 quarter. The value of these grants was $36.6 million, up 16.5 percent from the September 2022 quarter.

There were 25,866 Emergency Housing Special Needs Grants during the September 2023 quarter, down 5,298 or 17.0 percent from the September 2022 quarter. The value of these grants was $88.2 million, down 3.9 percent from the September 2022 quarter.

Figure 12a: Number of hardship payments provided during the last six September quarters by selected reason.
