2. We request the following information under the Official Information Act 1982 (OIA):
 - (a) all correspondence (including but not limited to emails, letters, notes of telephone conversations, etc) – internal and external – between 27 February 2023 and 2 October 2023 relating to NZR's review request, including correspondence to or from Ms Best.
3. We request that you provide this information as soon as is reasonably practicable as required under the OIA.
4. Please provide all documents in a text-searchable PDF format.
5. In the event any documents are withheld for legal privilege, please explain the nature and identify the originator of those documents to the extent you are able in light of any such privilege.
6. Please acknowledge this request with a reference number and contact the author immediately if you require clarification of the information sought.

The attached email and documentation is all I was able to find for the check/s that Craig did. In addition, I have found the check Steven White did for one of the 2021 subsidies – not sure if it will help but thought it was worth forwarding on to you anyway.

Hope this helps in some way.

Subject: NZRU IR pay information

Hey Sarah,

Just checking in to see if you had any luck with Jacqui or anyone else to see if we hold the IR information for NZRU and the PUs that the refund table was based on. If we need to request and analyse this again, do you need me to do this?

I've read through the information they have sent and I guess I'm now in 2 minds about it all. Having only seen some of the emails and memo's for the first time, it seems somewhat different than the summary I've been given and what the discrepancies have been from NZRU's perspective.

I still think the IR information would be useful, though I can see how that alone would show the concern that the PUs didn't pay the players in question. NZRU have clarified that the players that are employed by both parties, are actually paid under NZRU's payroll and IR number, where the PU then reimburses them. So PAYE wise it would look like the PU's haven't paid the players. That's not to say that the wages reflect the players were paid 'twice' by NZRU, as I've never seen anything about the analysis of that – did they get paid 2 separate payments or double the other players? Also they indicate IR are aware of this arrangement, but without seeing their response, it can't be known if they told us they are aware some players would be missing from the PUs.

The biggest difficulty would be that some players are paid by instalment and some only during the rugby competition period- so again not clear how this would have appeared in IR information. While I would interpret that at the time they applied for some players, it wouldn't appear they had paid them except a one-off or only over a period of a few months the previous year, so they wouldn't be using the subsidy to retain the player at the time they applied. Especially in their case, that they were publicising that the competition may not go ahead. The catch being that we've told them in one of the earlier emails that they can basically keep the money to pay that player down the track. The Mitre 10 cup didn't happen until September, so they essentially applied for players up to 6 months before they may have actually paid them, with no real plan on their intention to pay that player. Had to understand without seeing the IR stuff and who, if anyone, they didn't pay until September.

Crazy that they have some clubs not included in the refund who have been holding money for up to 3 years and their legal team hasn't advised anyone to refund the excess funds prior to this, like they were obligated to, and only now highlighting it all.

Happy to chat once you have your head around it all – it's taken all day of going back and forth to make sure I get it clear in my head about their position and why they feel like we're changing our minds!

Hey Jacqui,

I was just meaning in relation to the PAYE records that we assessed which players required refund, now that I understand what their argument has been about PUs paying players via NZRU payroll and why they said both sides qualified. Some of the specifics were unknown to me until they sent through all the correspondence they've had with MSD that I hadn't seen before.

Sarah had asked about the IR records as part of doing the internal review but there hadn't been any notes about the analysis or the PAYE records themselves that I had compiled so far. I believe she was going to see if this was held somewhere or potentially request it again to complete the review.

It was more my curiosity trying to picture what the PUs were describing and how some of the contracts implied players could be paid.

Request for interview on Super Rugby wage subsidy double-dip – Newstalk ZB

Query: Brooke Hobson, who produces the drive show with Heather du Plessis-Allan, requested an interview with George Van Ooyen to discuss MSD seeking partial repayments from provincial rugby unions over the Wage Subsidy.

Response: Hi, Brooke. Thanks for the opportunity. We're happy to provide you with the statement below, which we gave to BusinessDesk, but given there's a legal process that's currently playing out around this issue there's nothing more we're able to add at the moment. We have been engaging with 17 entities associated with 14 provincial rugby unions that claimed a combined total of $9,719,935.60 on behalf of Super Rugby players through the Wage Subsidy, Wage Subsidy Extension, Wage Subsidy Resurgence and Wage Subsidy August 2021 schemes.

Since this money was granted, MSD has assessed additional information and now does not consider the provincial unions were eligible for some of the wage subsidy payments they received. We are seeking partial repayment on that basis.

At the unions' request, this decision is going through MSD's review process. In the interest of fairness, we are unable to provide any further details while this process is ongoing.

There is no suggestion that these wage subsidy payments were obtained fraudulently.

Our engagement with the provincial rugby unions is part of a wider continuing work programme supporting the integrity of the wage subsidy scheme. That work includes investigations, post-payment checks, requests for repayment, civil recovery, and in the more serious cases, prosecutions where we believe deliberate fraud was involved.

Notes for editors

- MSD has engaged with thousands of applicants since the Wage Subsidy Scheme began. As of 30 June 2023, this had contributed towards 24,783 repayments being made, recouping $819.6 million for taxpayers.
- We have completed 16,086 pre-payment and post-payment checks on wage subsidy applications, resolved 6,985 allegations of wage subsidy misuse, and completed 654 wage subsidy-related investigations.

IN-CONFIDENCE

Hi, Paul.

Thanks for your patience on this one. Below is a statement for you.

As you'll see, we're a bit limited in what details we can provide at the moment due to a review process that's currently playing out.

In case you weren't already aware, you can search here to see how much each applicant received through COVID-19 wage subsidies. Although, I'd stress, we're only seeking partial repayments from the provincial unions so you may have to approach them, or have a good rummage through their financial reports, for details of how much is in dispute with each.

Hopefully this helps.

Kind regards,
Michael.

Query: Paul McBeth asked what the status was of MSD’s “investigation” into provincial rugby unions’ wage subsidy entitlements for Super Rugby players. He wanted to know how much money was in dispute, as it appeared to vary from union to union. The reporter came across this story because several provincial unions included details of the dispute as a contingent liability in their annual reports. The Taranaki Rugby Football Union described the process as an MSD investigation, which is why the reporter used that term.

Response: Attributed to George Van Ooyen, MSD’s Group General Manager – Client Service Support

Malo Jamie,

Unsure whether Erica has touched base, but sending this as a FYI as there may be a media query around this matter – it's a bit more detailed than we would usually provide as we are managing it, BUT, good for your visibility, back pocket etc. Can you please update your side. Happy to answer any questions they may have.

- New Zealand Rugby Union Incorporated (NZ Rugby) received $7,891,410.40 in support through the original Wage Subsidy Scheme and subsequent iterations over 2020 and 2021. Payments were made to the NZRU and to a range of entities representing the 26 Provincial Unions.
- MSD has subsequently requested repayment of $2,859,855.60 from 17 entities representing 14 Provincial Unions. In total, these entities received $9,213,350 through the Wage Subsidy Scheme, Wage Subsidy Extension, Wage Subsidy Resurgence and Wage Subsidy August 2021.

- Partial repayment is being requested in relation to subsidy money received for senior/Super Rugby players because, s27 (1)(g) MSD considers these players were employees of NZ Rugby rather than their Provincial Unions.
- NZ Rugby and the Provincial Unions disagree and consider that both were entitled to claim wage subsidies for the players as the players had two employers.
- We are currently undertaking an internal independent review of the decision. s27 (1)(g) he outcome of the review is expected in the next two – three weeks.
- A comms plan is currently in development, to support any enquiries into the matter following the outcome of the review.
- However, BusinessDesk have today reached out to MSD as details of the matter are included as a contingent liability in the annual reports of several Provincial Unions, in some cases including the amounts in dispute. The matter was referred to by the Taranaki union in their report as an "investigation", but there is no suggestion of fraud in this case.
- Note: on 2 July 2020, RNZ reported on wage subsidy payments for employees with more than one employer. This included NZ Rugby at the time confirming "its players, who are employees of both New Zealand Rugby and the Provincial Unions, received the full-time rate from both organisations" and that their "applications have been guided by and approved by the Ministry of Social Development." The article quotes a statement from Minister Sepuloni, who said based on information at that time "the NZRU and Provincial Unions were legitimate employers who had been assessed as fitting the eligibility criteria by MSD." – we are doing more work on this one.

Thank you

Mōrena Erica,

In regard to the additional OCE queries, the following excerpts from an internal memo on the matter cover it:

The August 2021 Wage Subsidy scheme introduced clearer interpretation of how to assess large employers who may have structured their businesses differently which provided better guidelines. The leader of the large employer pre-payment integrity checks team instructed an assessor to complete pre and post payment integrity checks on all New Zealand Rugby Union and Provincial Union applications to ensure correct entitlements were assessed.

It was during the integrity checks assessment in August through to December 2021 that MSD confirmed that while players who were contracted to New Zealand Rugby Union may have a contractual arrangement to fulfil duties in a Provincial Union team the arranged was a kin to a 'secondment type' arrangement and that the Provincial Union did not have any payroll obligations and those players never appeared on any administration payroll structures with IR.

Purpose

This plan is designed to provide communications support around the recovery of Wage Subsidy money from a number of provincial rugby unions.

The purpose of this plan is to outline:

- Key messages to be communicated, with back pocket Q&A.
- Risks associated with communication and how these will be mitigated.
- Key stakeholders and audiences

Background and environmental factors

The Government's primary response for supporting businesses and jobs to manage the impact of COVID-19 was wage subsidies, with the first one being made available in March 2020 and the last closing for applications on 9 December 2021. In all, wage subsidies provided over $18.8 billion to support more than 1.8 million jobs. The Ministry of Social Development (MSD) has been the lead agency for rolling out and administering wage subsidies.

New Zealand Rugby Union Incorporated (NZ Rugby) received $7,891,410.40 in support through the original Wage Subsidy Scheme and subsequent iterations over 2020 and 2021. Payments were made to NZ Rugby and to a range of entities representing the 26 Provincial Unions.

MSD has subsequently requested repayment of $2,859,855.60 from 17 entities representing 14 Provincial Unions. In total, these entities received $9,213,350 through the Wage Subsidy Scheme, Wage Subsidy Extension, Wage Subsidy Resurgence and Wage Subsidy August 2021.

Partial repayment is being requested in relation to subsidy money received for senior/Super Rugby players because, in MSD's opinion, these players were employees of NZ Rugby rather than their Provincial Unions. NZ Rugby and the Provincial Unions disagree and consider that both were entitled to claim wage subsidies for the players as the players had two employers.

NZ Rugby and the Provincial Unions are currently going through MSD's independent review process. If MSD's decision stands, recovery will be sought.

[REDACTED] s27 (1)(g)

[REDACTED] They also have the option of making a complaint to the Ombudsman's office, who may investigate the decision MSD has made and upheld.

There is no suggestion of fraud in this case.

Communication objectives

The communications objectives are:

- to ensure Ministers have the material they need to respond to questions about the Wage Subsidy and integrity processes
- to ensure MSD's Media Team has the material it needs to respond to queries about the NZ Rugby/Provincial Unions case and related integrity processes

Communication and media approach

- Our key audiences are Ministers and partner agencies, with our focus being to provide them with up-to-date and consistent communications material and messaging to respond to media queries.
- MSD will take the lead in responding to media queries and will share significant responses with partner agencies.
- All media requests will be reviewed and endorsed by the GGM Client Service Support, Integrity & Debt and MSD Legal.
- A media holding statement should be prepared for use if we are asked about this case before it is resolved. s27 (1)(g)

s27 (1)(g)

Communication risks and mitigations

Risk	Mitigation
MSD is criticised for paying Wage Subsidy to both NZ Rugby and the Provincial Unions for the same players	Messaging explains why the Wage Subsidy was paid correctly on the basis of information provided by applicants and why the payments have been reconsidered

Key messages

Rugby Wage Subsidy Scheme case messages:

- The New Zealand Rugby Union Incorporated (NZ Rugby) and New Zealand's 26 Provincial Unions received a total of $7,891,410.40 in COVID-19 wage subsidies in 2020 and 2021 to pay staff and professional players.
- Our subsequent checks showed that NZ Rugby and 14 of the Provincial Unions applied for and received Wage Subsidy payments for the same senior/Super Rugby players.
- We investigated and, s27 (1)(g) concluded that these players were employees solely of NZ Rugby and the Provincial Unions were not entitled to also receive Wage Subsidy payments on the players' behalf.
- We are seeking repayment of $2,859,855.60 from 17 entities associated with the 14 Provincial Unions affected.
- We requested repayment from the Provincial Unions on 30 June 2022.
- NZ Rugby and the Provincial Unions take a different view and have sought a review of our decision through MSD's independent review process. This is proving to be a lengthy process because of the amount of material being considered.

High level Wage Subsidy Scheme messages:

- The Wage Subsidy Scheme was the primary means for supporting businesses and jobs in the Government's response to, and recovery from, COVID-19. Wage subsidies provided over $18.8 billion to support more than 1.8 million jobs by helping businesses affected by COVID-19 to retain employees.
- MSD worked with partner agencies to set up the Wage Subsidy Scheme in March 2020 at unprecedented scale and speed, providing support at a critical time for businesses and employees.
- We were able to make payments rapidly because of the Government's decision to use a "high trust" approach.
- With this came a higher risk that payments would be made to businesses or employers that were not eligible. The Government made a decision on these risks at the time.
- The Wage Subsidy was just one of a suite of targeted payments and supports designed to help businesses and workers affected by COVID-19 in different ways.

Wage Subsidy integrity/investigation messages:

- Since the Wage Subsidy Scheme began, we have carried out an extensive programme of integrity work. With every new iteration of the Wage Subsidy Scheme we enhanced the scheme's integrity while retaining the ability to quickly make payments to eligible businesses.

- Pre-payment controls prevented around $1.3 billion being paid out across the wage subsidy schemes and around 340,000 applications were declined.
- We are committed to recovering wage subsidy payments from those who should not have received and or retained them, whether inadvertently or as the result of fraud.
- Where we identify issues with a recipient's eligibility, we try to work with them to secure voluntary repayment. Where this is unsuccessful, we may take further action through the courts to pursue civil recovery. Where fraud is identified, we pursue criminal prosecutions.
- Since the Wage Subsidy began, we have engaged with thousands of applicants. This has contributed to 24,783 recipients making voluntary and requested Wage Subsidy repayments totalling $819.6 million (as at 30 June 2023).
- As at 30 June 2023, MSD has completed 15,408 pre-payment and post-payment checks on wage subsidy applications, resolved 6,985 allegations of wage subsidy misuse, and completed 654 wage subsidy-related investigations – 42% of the 1,571 cases referred for investigation.
- Our work to uphold the integrity of the COVID-19 Wage Subsidy Scheme has now seen 37 people brought before the courts (as at 7 July 2023). The total amount of public money involved in these cases is approximately $3 million. A further 13 cases are in the process of having charges filed.
- From October 2021, MSD has also referred 11 cases involving larger sums of money and complex investigations to the Serious Fraud Office. The SFO has since filed 95 charges in the Auckland District Court against an individual who is alleged to have fraudulently claimed over $2.3 million from various COVID-19 relief funds and GST returns, of which he allegedly received $624,000.

Wage Subsidy reviews messages:

- The Wage Subsidy Scheme has been reviewed or evaluated a number of times since 2020 with a view to improving both "current" and future schemes.
- In April 2020, shortly after the first Wage Subsidy was established, MSD commissioned Deloitte to provide an external view of integrity risks for the scheme.
- MSD adopted many of the Deloitte 2020 report's 12 recommendations and applied them to the Wage Subsidy Extension and Wage Subsidy Resurgence schemes. This included increased communication with applicants before and after payment, improved processes to ensure the collection of accurate application data, and stronger settings for the approval of applications.

- In May 2021, the Office of the Auditor-General published a performance audit on the management of the WSS.
- The OAG found that the WSS was implemented in accordance with Cabinet's decisions, and that many of the steps taken by agencies were consistent with good practice guidance for emergency situations.
- The report also acknowledged the extraordinary circumstances facing the Government when it implemented the WSS and other COVID-19 support payments.
- The OAG noted that post-payment integrity work undertaken by MSD to date likely had not met Cabinet's expectations of an "audit", as it had not verified applicant eligibility against documentary evidence.
- Prior to the publication of the OAG's report, MSD took additional steps to enhance its integrity programme in line with the draft recommendations received. This included updating declarations to expressly require applicants to prepare and retain evidence of their eligibility, including that they met the required revenue decline, and this evidence was routinely sought from recipients as part of pre- and post-payment checks.
- Since the Auditor-General's report, MSD has also:
 - introduced a requirement for applicants to keep documentary evidence to allow us to verify their entitlement
 - begun testing the reliability of earlier post-payment assurance work
 - begun an evaluation of the Wage Subsidy Scheme, including evaluating how the scheme was developed and implemented, and assessing the extent to which it achieved its intended outcomes, and
 - taken court action against a number of recipients while also referring other cases to the Serious Fraud Office, with more enforcement action expected to follow.
- Audit NZ also reviewed the WSS as part of its annual audit for the year to 30 June 2020, recommending that MSD "analyse the result of all integrity and assurance work undertaken to date to inform a risk-based assessment of the next steps, and what further integrity work needs to be completed, if any, to strengthen the integrity of the scheme".
- In response, in early 2022, MSD engaged Deloitte to undertake a second independent assessment of MSD's integrity programme.
- Deloitte's 2022 Review of Wage Subsidy Scheme Integrity and Assurance assesses the steps taken in response to the recommendations previously made in Deloitte's 2020 review, Audit NZ's 2021 report (part of MSD's annual audit for the year to 30 June 2020) and the Office of the Auditor-General's May 2021 report.

- The review also considers what other key measures were available to further strengthen integrity of the existing schemes to leverage insights for future schemes of this nature.
- Since the release of the Auditor General's report in May 2021, a working group including representatives from MSD, IR, MBIE, and Treasury, has been co-ordinating the monitoring and evaluation of the Wage Subsidy Scheme.
- A high-level evaluation approach was developed, which included:
 - a process evaluation that considers how well the scheme was developed and implemented, and
 - an outcome evaluation that examines the extent to which the scheme achieved its intended outcomes, within the context of the COVID-19 pandemic, and other Government supports.
- These evaluations have been carried out by independent consultants and are expected to be made publicly available by the end of July 2023.

Q&A

Q. Why is MSD requesting repayment of this money?

A. New Zealand Rugby Union Incorporated (the NZRU) received a total of $7,891,410.40 in COVID-19 wage subsidies in 2020 and 2021 to pay staff and professional players. Our subsequent checks showed that NZRU and 14 Provincial Unions had applied for and received Wage Subsidy payments for the same senior/Super Rugby players. We investigated and, s27 (1)(g) concluded that these players were employees of the NZRU, and the Provincial Unions were not entitled to also receive Wage Subsidy payments on the players' behalf.

Q. Why did it take until 30 June 2022 before MSD wrote to the Provincial Unions to ask for repayment?

A. Following closure of the August 2021 scheme, MSD s27 (1)(g) and requested supporting information to inform its decision.

Q. Why has this still not been resolved?

A. After receiving a request for repayment on 30 June 2022, the NZRU and the Provincial Unions exercised their right to challenge MSD's decision through our independent review process. This is proving to be a lengthy process because of the amount of material that has to be considered.

Q. What will MSD do if the review confirms MSD's view but the Provincial Unions reject this?

A. If the review upholds the decision that repayment is required, we may consider pursuing civil debt recovery through the courts.

Q. Might the Provincial Unions face fraud charges?

A. No. There is no suggestion that these Wage Subsidy payments were fraudulent. In many cases where subsidies have been wrongly retained, it has been the result of an honest misunderstanding about the eligibility criteria rather than a deliberate attempt at deception.
